FOR PARK VIEW FETE

Big Community Center Celebration Will Be Ushered in Tomorrow Night.

WILL CLOSE FRIDAY NIGHT

What is planned to be the biggest community celebration in the history of the capital will be ushered in tomorrow night by Park View citizens in commemoration of the completion of the Park View school at Newton and the Park View school at Newton and the property of the undertaking. At Park View band and orchestra has been organized especially for the celebration and will provide music, not only at the meetings, but at the community dances to be held each evening in the library of the school. The complete program for each night, as announced yesterday by the committee in charge, is as follows: Warder streets and the paving of Geor-

When the Park View school petition was before Congress consideration was before Congress at one time to plan for a special value to plan for a system-room structure.

Now that the larger building is found to be too small Park View residents are wondering what can be done to relieve the situation, which is expected to grow worse with the growth of the section. The Park View association is urging Congress to purchase ground adjoining the building for playground purposes, if the request is granted the ground will be available also as a site for an addition to the school if one becomes necessary, it is pointed out. FOR AID TO PEOPLE DRIVEN INTO EXILE

Society Girls Will Ask Contributions to Fund for Armenians and Syrians.

MADE HOMELESS BY WAR

That Washington's business men proose to do their part in the campaign in the National Capital to aid the suffering Armenians and Syrians who have been driven into exile by the war was indi cated vesterday.

The first of the responses was received by the Washington auxiliary committee to its appeals for the privilege of placing booths and tables in these establishments for the receipt of contributions. Four replies were received in the first mail following its delivery and each gave hearty indorsement to the plan. W. W. Everett of Woodward & Lothrop, speaking for that department store, informed the committee that he would set aside space at the main entrance of the store for a booth or table, where the patrons of the establishment will find a committee of young women ready to take what they may care to give.

Other Favorable Responses.

From the Federal National Bank, John Poole, president of the institution, sent word that space in the lobby of the bank would be placed at the disposal of the committee. Mr. Poole's letter concluded with the statement that the bank would co-operate as far as we can in this

O'Clock in the Pythian Temple.

The Columbia Theater, through Manager Beatus, also indorsed the project heartly, and stated a place in the lobby would be provided for a booth. The fourth letter was from James Runciman, manager of the New Ebbitt House, who gave strong approval to the effort to aid these unfortunate people. A prominent place for the booth will be arranged, Mr. Runciman said, and the staff of the hotel will co-operate with those in charge.

Navy Department to Forward Red Cross Supplies to Syria

The last obstacle in the way of American relief for Syrla was removed last night with the announcement from Red Cross headquarters here that the Navy Department had tendered space for relief supplies in a collier soon to be dispatched to coal the cruiser Des Moines, now in the Mediterranean. It is expected that $,000 tons of cargo space will be avallable, largely for wheat, rice and some clothing. Arrangements will be completed Monday for loading in New York October 23.

The supplies are expected to cost about $250,000 and will be purchased by a joint committee of the Red Cross and the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief. Part of the money is already in hand and the balance will be raised on the two national relief days, October 21 and October 22, set apart by a presidential proclamation. The supplies will be landed at Beirut, where they will be distributed jointly by the Red Cross and the Turkish Red Crescent.

Use of a collier will effect a great saving and may alone make relief possible, owing to scarcity of steamers and high freight rates. While the present plan does not include Armenia, a large part of the money received relief days will be devoted to that country, for which an appeal for $5,000,000 has been made. for relief supplies in a collier soon says-that's all there is to his-record. Mr. Wilson's words never square with his deeds."

entered the White House.

"He has done more than any President in our history toward breaking down the merit system," she said.
"With one stroke of his pen he removed 40,000 fourth-class postmasters from the classified service to enable the reclassification of democrats. He turned the census bureau over to the spoilsmen."

Mrs. Longstreet attacked Wilson par-icularly for turning out of office sev-rual southern women, including herself, the was ousted from the office of postistress at Gainsville, Ga., over the protest, she said, of a large majority of the patrons of the office. She said also that he turned out of office a granddaughter of President Tyler, who was holding a small post office in Virginia, although Miss Tyler was
